LOVE WHERE YOU BANK

LOVE WHERE YOU BANK

This year marks the 20th edition of professional PRCA rodeo in Herriman. What started with a small town's love for western sport has grown into a three-night event with sellout crowds, welcoming longtime residents, new neighbors, and visitors alike.

The level of competition continues to grow, with world champions and top PRCA contestants returning each year to compete in front of one of the most energetic crowds in local rodeo. Inside the arena donated by the Butterfield family and built up through the hands of local community members, old and new traditions continue to come together.

The Fort Herriman PRCA Rodeo is more than a summer event. It is a celebration of Herriman's roots, its growth, and the community spirit that keeps the rodeo tradition riding strong into the next 20 years and beyond.

RODEO 101

ROUGH STOCK VS TIMED EVENTS

Rodeo events generally fall into two categories: roughstock events, which test control and balance while riding powerful animals, and timed events, which test speed and precision against the clock. Together, they showcase the skill, athleticism, and tradition of rodeo.

BREAKAWAY ROPING

In breakaway roping, a cowgirl ropes a calf as quickly as possible from horseback. Once the rope catches, it breaks away from the saddle horn, stopping the clock and determining the time.

BARREL RACING

In barrel racing, a cowgirl and horse complete a cloverleaf pattern around three barrels. The goal is to finish with the fastest time possible without knocking over a barrel.

BULL RIDING

Bull riding requires a cowboy to stay aboard a bucking bull for eight seconds using one hand. It is one of rodeo's most intense events, with scoring based on both the rider's skill and the bull's power.

BAREBACK RIDING

In bareback riding, a cowboy rides a bucking horse using only one hand. To earn a score, the rider must stay on for eight seconds. Judges score both the rider's performance and the horse's action.

STEER WRESTLING

Also known as bulldogging, steer wrestling tests speed, timing, and strength. The cowboy rides alongside a steer, dismounts from the horse, and works to bring the animal to the ground as quickly as possible.

TEAM ROPING

Team roping is the only true team event in rodeo. One competitor, called the header, ropes the steer's horns, while the second competitor, called the heeler, ropes the hind legs. The fastest successful run wins.

SADDLE BRONC RIDING

Often called rodeo's classic event, saddle bronc riding challenges a cowboy to stay in rhythm with a bucking horse for eight seconds. Judges look for control, timing, spurring technique, and style.

TIE-DOWN ROPING

Tie-down roping combines speed, accuracy, and horsemanship. After roping a calf, the cowboy dismounts, runs to the calf, and ties any three legs together while the clock continues to run.

ROAD TO THE CHAMPIONSHIP

After Herriman, contestants continue chasing prize money at PRCA rodeos across the country, building toward circuit finals, the NFR Open, and the season standings. Only the top 15 money winners in each event qualify for the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, where they compete for a PRCA world championship.
